Flagstaff, Arizona

Flagstaff, nestled in the highlands of Arizona, is surrounded by the world's most extensive ponderosa pine forest. It's renowned as an all season tourist haven, offering a wealth of outdoor activities like camping, hiking, and biking amidst stunning fall foliage and winter wonderlands ideal for snow play and skiing. In the balmy summer, Flagstaff comes alive with outdoor festivals from June to October, featuring the Museum of Northern Arizona Heritage Festivals, which celebrate Native American and Latin cultures.

The community is also a college town focused on quality education, research and professional development with almost 30,000 students attending Northern Arizona University and 10,000 students attending Coconino Community College.

This is a unique opportunity to reside and work in the beautiful city of Flagstaff; a destination that draws visitors from across the state, nation, and globe to experience its iconic attractions. Flagstaff serves as the central gateway to Northern Arizona and the Grand Canyon National Park. The city's four distinct seasons, convenient location, and exceptional quality of life allure a diverse population of four million annual visitors and a substantial second homeowner contingent.

This thriving community mirrors a resort environment, encompassing local families, vacation rentals, the broader Northern Arizona regional market, and second homes from various backgrounds, providing a strong customer base for commercial enterprises.
